2. Reasons for the Discrepancy

In regards to non-consolidated business performance, the Marine Products Business enjoyed high prices of salmon/trout and shrimp while it reduced its inventories of marine products. Ordinary income and net income exceeded the previous forecasts as a result of efforts made to reduce costs on a company-wide scale, and gains recorded including the exchange gain from the weak Japanese Yen and sales of noncurrent assets due to the sale of land.

In regards to consolidated business performance, operating income, ordinary income and net income exceeded the previous forecasts, due to the solid business performance of Japanese fishery companies and yellowtail aquaculture firms in the Marine Products Business, in addition to the state of non-consolidated business performance.

Of note, no changes have been made at this point in time to the full-year financial forecasts released previously. If the need to revise the forecasts arises depending on changes in business performance in the months ahead, revised forecasts will be promptly announced to the public.

No changes have been made to the forecast of year-ended dividend at ¥0 per share (forecast of annual dividend at ¥0).

(Note) The above forecasts are based on information available at the time of this announcement. Actual results may differ depending on various factors.
